In politics the Commonwealth will be conservative, occupying a middle and antagonistic ground in reference to the two extremes. The old parties broken up, and old issues virtually dead, the vital question at present is Union or disunion. The Commonwealth is for the Union, believing it to be the greatest safeguard for our rights, as well as our most effective auxiliary in our efforts to obtain redress for our wrongs. Its conductors do not regard disunion as a remedy for any of the wrongs of the South, but rather an aggravation. It wil contond for the equality of the States in the Union, and for the sheolute non-interference by Congress with the domestic affairs of the States and Territories.

We shall aim to make the Commonwoodlin an acceptable and appropriate fireside companion. It will contain selections from the choicest literature of the day, prose, poetry, &c.

The WEERLY will be printed on extra double medium paper, in new and heautiful type. Terms, in advance, for the Tri-Weekly, $4 per sanum.

Terms, for the Weekly $2 per annum.

The Louisville Journal on the President's loyal men in the county of Caldwell, as well

The gentleman who wrote the articles for the Journal on the message is a critic and a into a petty censor, and a fine writer ofter perverts the meaning of a passage in order to fling off a few well turned sentences of his own. The Journal, in its articles o the meseage, exhibits the qualities of a fault finder and a fine writer in the serse indicated. The few sentences of the nessage or which the Journal comments do not, as we will show, admit of the interpretation giver But if the Journal desired to play fair'y, an not be a mere fault-finder, why did it regive all that the Presider t said upon the same subject. In the paragraph which follows the words on which the Journal Larps so loudly, the message says, "the ine igur. address at the beginning of the almitis ro tion, and the message to Congress at the late apecial session, were both mairly devoted to the domestic controversy out of which the insurrection and consequent war have sprung. Nothing new occurs to add or subtract to or from the principles or genera purposes stated and expressed in those docu menta.' In this the reader is asked to look into those documents for a complete expose of the President's principles and purposes. The Journal las approved these documers, be for some unknown whim, or to play the crit ic and fine writer, the Journal onits to say anything about them in its recent crit cism.

Unfortunately for the Journa', the article in that paper of the 9th, does not confine it self to criticism. It has undertaken to say what should have been the exact language of the President, and what is so said by the Journal may itself be the subject of critician Let us see whether the few sentences a made for the President by the Journal, ar not greatly more offensive to conservation than what the President did say. The Pres ident's language is that "we should not be? haste to determine that radical and extreme measure, which may reach the loyal as we as the disloyal, are indispensable." To the fair mind it s rikes us these are words of warning; the language that of an equal to his equal; a rebake to those who would go too far, and yet in a style so gentlemanly a swatched day and night by rebels. 2 i to be void of offense, though of sufficient point and force to catch and fix the sate. tion. The President has learned from the good book, and probably from a large experience, that "gentle words turn away wrath. The Journal insists that the Preside should have said "radical and exter a mination, regardless of all other considers and confidence from Secession maranders. messures, which involve the extinction c the institutions of the South, can rever to indispensable, for they also involve the extinction of the Union itself." Now its Jon; "the forces now in, or likely to be in trained the Union, if e now ad ai ted co a nal has taught na, and we all believe, the lie Sane, under the present system.
